Issues at factories

- There is no general textbook for onsite manufacturing training
- There is little improvement in KPI related to failures and poor quality

Recommended for these types of businesses!

This time, following the Japanese, Thai and English versions, the distribution of Spanish (Mexico version) textbooks has started!

It is also possible to conduct ability assessment testing based on these teaching materials !

Monodzukuri Ability Assessment Test

The Monodzukuri Test - Competence Research is based on previous data from a total of over 210 thousand autonomous maintenance personnel. It is an ability assessment test developed for application at sites outside Japan as well.

The test can evaluate how well each individual or each business site is versed in the basic knowledge necessary for onsite manufacturing.

The test is offered in English, Thai and Japanese, and can be applied to improve human resource training or to ascertain staff capacity at each business site in overall global business developments.

The New TPM Implementation Program For Production Innovation

For Fabrication and Assembly
2018 English Version

TPM® New Implementation Program
in Fabrication and Assembly Industries [2018]

This document offers an easy-to-understand commentary on implementation steps in accordance with TPM conditions already in motion in the fabrication and assembly industries. In other words, it states the sixteen major losses which obstruct manufacturing efficiency for fabrication and assembly, and offers commentary and new case studies on improvement programs for the seven major losses in individual improvement, which include "cutting blade loss." The eight pillars for TPM implementation which includes autonomous maintenance, quality maintenance, and planned maintenance also correspond to TPM implementation in fabrication and assembly.
